Economics is the study of how people make choices in an attempt to satisfy their unlimited wants with limited resources.

The Associate in Arts in Economics for Transfer (AA-T in Economics) provides students with a foundation of applying economic theories and economic reasoning to real world situations using the concepts of scarcity, opportunity cost, and supply and demand for both individual (micro) and collective (macro) decision-making. Students who successfully earn the Associate in Arts in Economics for Transfer by completing a maximum of 60 transferable units are guaranteed transfer admission into a California State University (CSU) campus to further the study of economics.
