Curriculum Committee Report

For summary of recent actions, visit

<http://www.elac.edu/facultyStaff/committees/acadsenate/curriculumSummary.htm>

S. Wardinski stated that these recommendations came from taking a close look at the College Catalog and finding places in which archived classes or new classes were or were not listed as appropriate. J. Bernard questioned the validity of the exclusion of Geography classes, which S. Wardinski believed were archived. This was later found to have been an error.

The recommendations of the curriculum committee were approved (J. Bernard and A. Immerblum opposed)

S. Wardinski also noted that the state is requiring a change to the DE addendum form, and the general consensus is that the new requirement (i.e., regular interaction among students) for the DE addendum be met by departments submitting information to the Curriculum committee, to have the Curriculum Chair edit it into the revised DE addenda. This will eliminate the need to resubmit all DE addenda. This will be brought to the Senate for consideration.

3. The two major areas of disagreement between the administration and faculty were discussed:
 - (a) Page 7, Section V.I. – The Selection Committee chair, in keeping with the guidelines for EEOC compliance, may conduct reference checks of the invited candidates prior to the selection of finalists to verify... D. Senensieb: questioned the strength of the phrase “in keeping with the guidelines...” because of the danger of someone making a mistake in the process because he/she conducted reference checks improperly. Hernandez acknowledged this legitimate concern, stating that there must be training for the individuals checking references. He suggested that we could drop this item if the administration favors allowing chair to sit in on final interview. K. Kasnetsis noted that does not think someone needs training to do reference checks and wants to be free to ask questions that the EEOC representative agrees to.
 - (a) Page 9, Section VIII.A. – This section still holds to the request that the president will allow the Selection Committee chair to observe and act as a resource to the college president as he/she asks questions.

(b) Page 9, Section VIII.D. Beginning with the third sentence in this section, the following changes were made.

.... If the president still finds that he/she cannot choose a final candidate, then the president shall notify the Selection Committee and the Academic Senate president of his/her decision, and the position shall be reopened. meet with the Selection Committee to discuss these issues. Formalizing the Final Draft of the Faculty Hiring Policy:

Discussion of the role of the Selection Committee chair during the president's final interview of the candidates for a probationary faculty position continued from the last Senate meeting. At the February 9 Senate meeting, two versions were presented to the senators for discussion in their departments so that a vote on the preferred version can be conducted:

Version 1 - Inclusion of the Selection Committee chair in the interview if the president invites him/her. If the president does not extend the invitation, the president must consult with the Selection Committee chair before making a final decision.

Version 2 - Participation of the Selection Committee chair in the interview and consultation with the president before the president makes a decision. D. Senensieb pointed out that Version 2, whereby a faculty member is included in the final interview process, was in the original draft of our hiring policy because the State Academic Senate supports this approach. Also a number of colleges, including Mission, Southwest, Pierce, and Valley, follow this practice. The current college president does not wish to have a faculty member sit in the final interview.

M/S/P with 2 opposed (Hernandez/Arenas) that the Academic Senate adopts for inclusion in the Faculty Hiring Policies and Procedures – Section VIII Final Interview that in addition to the president and the appropriate vice president, the Selection Committee chair will participate in the final interview of a probationary faculty member and the president will consult with the Selection Committee chair before making a final decision.

Two changes were proposed: move the sentence “After consultation with the department chair...” to above the heading “ONCE THE COURSE BEGINS” and delete item 3 about notification of students for enrolling in other courses. S. Davey and R. Adsit accepted a friendly amendment to their motion that the policy be approved. K. Kasnetsis and J. Revisions to the Faculty Hiring Policy:

Alex reviewed the areas of contention with the administration regarding the draft Faculty Hiring Policy that the Senate Executive Committee (SEC) submitted on behalf of the Senate to the administration.

- Section II.B.2 - The inclusion of high school or business faculty on a selection committee if necessary to complete the committee. The SEC and Senate disagree with this proposal.
- Section V.G –Invitations must be extended to at least five candidates for the interview. The SEC disagrees and proposes that the eight candidates minimum be maintained as exceptions to this minimum are already included in the draft Hiring Policy.
- Section III.A.3.c - All faculty shall (rather than should) present a teaching demonstration. SEC agrees.
- Section X.C.3 – Reference checks should be conducted by the dean before the initial interviews. Administration opposes this SEC proposal.
- Sections VIII.A & B – The administration (the president) does not support the participation of a faculty member in the final interview with the president. The Senate agreed by consensus to support this proposal.

Facilities Update:

A. Immerblum and J. Hernandez reviewed the two scenarios regarding the Performing Arts complex (PVAC) presented to the Facilities Planning Subcommittee (FPSC) at their last meeting: (1) continue with the PVAC project or (2) postpone it. Given it would cost more to postpone the project, a motion to go to bid on the PVAC passed unanimously despite the FPSC learning that we would have to locate not $16 million but up to $23 to 25 million to complete the funding for this project. Some of the funding can be captured from the funds set aside for the parking structure which came in at $5 million under bid. It was reported that Chancellor Drummond is willing to support District-sponsored loans to assist all colleges that need additional money to complete building projects. It was also pointed out that we cannot seek bids on the project until all of the funding is secured. At the next FPSC meeting, Jacobs has been asked to provide their budget and a list of projects that still need to be funded and built. After the summary, discussion ensued about the dissatisfaction with the way the bond money has been allocated with no buildings to show for it.

M/S/P (Hernandez/Andrews) to create an ad hoc committee to inform the college president about contract compliance concerns with respect to Jacobs.
