Directed Study - Electronics

Would you know how to communicate without phones or internet, or in a disaster? This class prepares you for the FCC Technician Class Amateur Radio License exam. Amateur (Ham) Radio is the one communication that works when all else fails. Things you can do with Ham Radio: Send Voice, Text, Emails, Pictures, and even Video around the world (without phones or internet). Talk through satellites or with astronauts on board the International Space Station. Send a message around the world using less electricity than a nightlight. Support rescue efforts in emergencies and disasters. Its fun and can save your life too.
