Three new shows open this summer 2015!

May 16 to August 1, 2015

Nao Bustamante: Soldadera

VPAM presents Soldadera, a multi-media exhibition that marks artist Nao Bustamante’s solo West Coast museum debut. Soldadera presents a variety of projects inspired by the women, known as “soldaderas” in Spanish, who fought during The Mexican Revolution (1910-20).

Bustamante creates hybrid works that hover over the line between fact and fiction, between the past and the future, and engage the soldadera’s capacity, as a figure, to signify vulnerability and violence. Bustamante deploys a methodology she calls “speculative re-enactment.” She asks: How can we reach across time to know the soldadera’s experience of the past?

Soldadera is guest curated by Jennifer Doyle, Professor of English at UC Riverside. It is supported by UC Riverside’s Queer Lab and by the University of California Institute for Research in the Arts.

Related Events:
- Saturday, May 16, 4 to 7 p.m., Opening Reception with live Performance.
- Friday, May 22, 5 p.m., Walkthrough with curator Jennifer Doyle.
- Saturday, June 19, 2 p.m., Walkthrough with curator Jennifer Doyle.
- Saturday, July 18, 3 p.m., Conversations with the Exhibitions: Join the artist, curator and area writers in a forum exploring the issues raised by Bustamante’s exhibition.

June 13 to August 1, 2015

Chicanitas: Small Paintings from the Cheech Marin Collection

VPAM is delighted to be the first and only hosting venue in Los Angeles for the exhibition Chicanitas: Small Paintings from the Cheech Marin Collection (size doesn’t matter). This eclectic group show showcases seventy paintings by twenty-nine artists from Marin’s solo art collection.

Marin, an entertainer who is well known for his work in movies, television, and improvisational comedy, has been acquiring art for more than twenty years. He has amassed one of the renowned collections of Chicano art in private hands. His most recent passion is collecting small paintings averaging 16 inches square and smaller in size. In contrast to other works in his collection that promote the Chicano art movement of the mid-60s and 70s, the content of Chicanitas comprises small works that represent the artists’ internal or personal reflections rather than responses to political, social or cultural situations.

Related Events:
- Saturday, June 13, 4 to 6 p.m., Opening Reception for the artists.
- Thursday, July 9, 4 to 7 p.m., An afternoon with Cheech Marin includes walk-through, artists’ panel discussion and book signing.

June 13 to August 1, 2015

Joel Garcia: Tatewari

The work of Los Angeles-based artist Joel “Tatewari” Garcia is featured in a solo show in the HOY SPACE. Garcia’s exhibition title, Tatewari, means “changed by fire” and refers to the transformation of young men who live at the personal intersection of the barrio and their own indigenous roots. Through tattoos or clothing, these urban “indios” adopt non-traditional regalia to create personas to face a world not yet ready to accept them.

Tatewari features experimental prints that use natural inks and dyes derived from agave, prickly pear, aloes vera, among other plants. These prints are part of a larger installation including re-mixed traditional indigenous objects.

Garcia is Director of Programs and Operations at Self Help Graphics & Art. He is also a visual artist and prolific cultural organizer. He studied Illustration at Otis College of Art & Design (1996), and holds degrees in Photography (2002) and Business Management (2003) from East Los Angeles College.

Related Events:
- Saturday, June 13, 4 to 6 p.m., Opening Reception for the artist.
- Saturday, June 20, 5:15 p.m., Solo artist Joel Garcia for a walk-through of his show.

Cultivating Excellence

Part of the Accreditation process allows colleges to highlight programs and/or activities that exemplify extraordinary efforts. In other words, ELAC should brag about what they are doing well. We are looking to showcase these good efforts in the self study.

As the self-study process continues, the Accreditation Team is aware of many good efforts around the campus. Your input is always welcome and provides multiple different perspectives. We are hoping you can help identify excellent efforts.

So take this time to nominate a program/action that you believe has cultivated excellence at ELAC. (This is not nominating a person, but the actions that either an individual or a group has accomplished that fulfills ELAC’s mission – empowering students to fulfill their educational goals.)

This effort should fit into one of the four standards:

I. Mission, Academic Quality and Institutional Effectiveness, and Integrity
II. Student Learning Programs and Student Services
III. Resources: Human Resources, Facilities, Technology, Financial
IV. Leadership and Governance

*The Standards are broad and essentially cover every aspect of the college; so fitting into a standard should not impede one in nominating a program/action.

The description nominating a program/action should be no longer than 250 words.

In addition to having these programs/actions highlighted in the self-study, the Accreditation leaders are working with the Office of Public Information and may be highlighted in its communications.

Please email your one page summary to us no later than Friday May 29, 2015. Include a contact person name and email for further communication.
