Be a part of the Legacy!
In athletics, the concept of the family environment is always being created, developed, and discussed. The idea to be able to trust, communicate, and develop strong relationships among teammates are goals of team building. For Brianna, her vision and idea of family was far different than the family atmosphere she became a part of at East Los Angeles College. Her own personal family experiences saw her in and out of foster care, her family split up and brought back together twice, sexual abuse by a family member was documented and Brianna, herself, became a surrogate mother to a family relative. Through all of these experiences, she enrolled in and became part of the East Los Angeles College intercollegiate family and its Volleyball and Track and Field programs. Her collegiate family, through continuous support, communication, and guidance from her teammates, coaches, faculty, and counselor, has allowed her to gain positive experiences and personal success in all of her endeavors. Today, with the support of her two “families,” Brianna has the opportunity to transfer to a four-year college and continue her academic and athletic goals and dreams.
