Spring 2009 Library Workshops

South Gate and ELAC campus libraries will continue to offer library workshops during the 2009 spring semester. The workshops help students achieve information competency, prepare for transfer, and become lifelong learners. Please encourage your students to attend. Descriptions of our six workshops are listed below. Visit the respective library websites for more detailed information:

South Gate Educational Center Library:
http://www.elac.edu/departments/library/SGEC/Workshops_Spring2009.html

ELAC Library:
http://www.elac.edu/departments/library/library/Workshops_Spring2009.html

Get Started with Research: This workshop is geared toward students who are writing speeches, research papers, and argumentative essays for courses like English 101, 102, and 103. Students learn how to select a topic, narrow a topic, write a preliminary research question, and select keywords to use in searching library databases. The workshop also introduces students to library sources that provide background information on their topics.

Online Library Catalogs: Students learn how to search for library books and other materials in the ELAC Library Catalog and in the CSU-LA Library Catalog. The workshop helps students become independent researchers capable of navigating online catalogs in any library.

Journals, Magazines, and Newspaper Articles: Students learn the major differences between scholarly journals and popular magazines and the function of scholarly journals in academia. Students also learn how to use keywords to find and access scholarly journal, magazine, and newspaper articles in the ProQuest Database.

Credible Sources on the Web: Students learn how to evaluate Websites for credibility and how to find credible Websites using subject directories and Google’s advanced search features.

Cite Your Sources and Avoid Plagiarism: Students learn how to recognize and avoid plagiarism and practice citing sources on an MLA “Works Cited” page.

Critical Thinking about Information: This more challenging workshop teaches students to think critically about information and how to verify information using government documents.

As you may know, the ELAC Foundation has been challenged to raise almost 1 million dollars within the next 3 years. There are several strategies that we are executing, but we need your help. We at ELAC want to re-connect and re-engage our former students. All we ask is that you forward your database of Alumnae, and we’ll do the rest...no more no less.

We hope that you are able to assist in this challenging endeavor as $1 million dollars will go a long way for our students.

For more information or to submit databases contact: Heidy Peralta at (323) 260-8901.
