Library Workshops and Library Science Courses

The library is offering workshops throughout the fall semester. Please be aware that the Main Campus library will not be offering Saturday workshops during the fall 2009 semester. Refer your students to library workshops so they can learn about the library’s resources and acquire more effective research skills.

The workshops enhance student learning most effectively when students attend a specific workshop at the point of need. For example, when students are assigned an argument paper or speech, the “Getting Started with Research” workshop will teach them how to develop an effective research strategy. Similarly students can get help creating their “Works Cited” page by attending the “Cite Your Sources” workshop as their assignment due date approaches.

For Main Campus workshop information, contact the Instruction Librarian, Amy Guy, at (323)267-3775. The schedule for the Main Campus workshops can be viewed at: http://www.elac.edu/departments/library/index.asp?links=maincampus/Workshops_schedule_mc.htm

For South Gate workshop information, contact the South Gate Librarian, Gabriella Lopez, at (323) 357-6214. The schedule for the South Gate workshops can be viewed at: http://www.elac.edu/departments/library/index.asp?links=southgate/Workshops_schedule_sg.htm

Library Science courses in Library Research Methods (LS 101) and Internet Research Methods (LS 102) are also being offered for 1 unit credit. LS101 is transferable to both the UC and CSU systems, and the LS 102 is CSU transferable. Please encourage students to register to learn in-depth research skills.

Please note that due to the availability of fewer computers in our temporary facility, our computer classroom will not be available for use by other departments. Whenever possible, we open our classroom computers to meet students’ research and coursework needs. We apologize for the inconvenience. Please contact Academic Affairs to inquire about alternative classroom availability.
