

ELAC English Department faculty stand in solidarity with Black Lives Matter and support our community in protesting police violence. We are outraged as we bear witness to the murder of George Floyd, Ahmaud Arbery, Breonna Taylor, and Tony McDade, and we acknowledge that their deaths are only the latest in a tragic legacy of racial violence in America. The public executions of black people and the marginalization of African-American and Afro-Latinx individuals cause pain and trauma to our students and campus community.
